Audrey

Audrey, a talented and dedicated cheerleader, has been selected as our Cheerleader of the Week. With five years of experience on the team, Audrey has proven herself to be an exceptional leader of the Raiderettes.

Audrey was born in Montreal, Quebec, Canada and grew up in Livermore, California. She discovered her passion for dance at the age of three and has been competing throughout the United States ever since. At the age of 16, Audrey started teaching dance to pay for her own classes. This experience led her to become a dance instructor at Raiderettes the studio, a role she cherishes. In addition to her dance career, Audrey aspires to become a nurse, with a focus on aesthetics and pediatrics.

Audrey's motivation to audition for the Raiderettes stemmed from her dance instructors, one of whom is now the team's director. As a participant in the Junior Raiderettes dance program at the age of 12, Audrey was inspired by the talent, passion, and involvement of the Raiderettes. She set a goal for herself to one day step onto the field in those iconic white boots, and she achieved that dream.

One of Audrey's favorite aspects of being a Raiderette is working with the younger generation. She finds it rewarding to inspire and be a role model for children who look up to her. Audrey aims to encourage them to follow their hearts and pursue their dreams, no matter how big they may seem.

Outside of her role as a Raiderette, Audrey had a life-changing experience when she was selected to represent the Raiders and Raiderettes on a military tour in Germany, the Netherlands, Belgium, and the UK. This opportunity allowed her to bring joy and laughter to military troops and families, while also gaining a deeper appreciation for their sacrifices.

Audrey has ambitious career goals, including becoming a registered nurse with a concentration in aesthetics, pediatrics, and women's health. She also aspires to take on a leadership position within the Raiderettes, as she has been greatly influenced by her time with the team and wants to continue that positive energy for future generations.

To young dancers who aspire to be in Audrey's shoes one day, she offers valuable advice: never quit. Audrey faced obstacles along her journey, including being initially rejected when she first auditioned for the Raiderettes. However, she persevered and used that rejection as motivation to work harder. Audrey emphasizes the importance of trusting oneself, following one's heart, and never losing sight of the end goal.

Audrey's story is a testament to the power of passion, determination, and resilience. She has achieved remarkable success as a cheerleader and is on her way to fulfilling her dreams in the nursing field. We congratulate Audrey on being named Cheerleader of the Week and wish her continued success in all her endeavors.
