Claudia

This week, we shine the spotlight on Claudia, who has been recognized as the Raiderette of the Game. With her infectious energy and unwavering dedication, she exemplifies the spirit of the Raiders and the Raiderettes team.

Claudia is from Redwood City, California, and has proudly served as a Raiderette for three seasons. As a concert marketing coordinator, she balances her professional life with her passion for dance and the Raiders. Claudia's role as a marketing coordinator showcases her talents behind the scenes, but it's her vibrant presence on the field that truly stands out.

When she's not cheering on the Raiders, Claudia can often be found exploring the great outdoors. She thrives in nature, indulging in activities like skiing and hiking, and she's particularly fond of the sun-soaked landscapes that Las Vegas offers. Whether she's scaling a mountain or enjoying a leisurely hike, Claudia embraces the adventurous spirit that defines her.

A true lover of entertainment, Claudia's favorite TV show is the iconic "Arrested Development." The humor and clever writing resonate with her, providing a delightful escape from her busy schedule. But it's not just about leisure; Claudia finds inspiration in her teammates. "My team is my why," she says, emphasizing the strong bonds she has formed and the shared experiences that make being a Raiderette so rewarding.

Living in Las Vegas, Claudia appreciates the city's vibrant atmosphere and the multitude of activities available at all hours. She believes that there's something for everyone, making each day an adventure waiting to unfold. Her favorite quote, "Be where your feet are," serves as a guiding principle, reminding her to stay present and savor the moments that life presents.

Looking to the future, Claudia has aspirations that extend beyond the NFL. She dreams of dancing internationally on tour and hopes to one day reside in Spain, where she can immerse herself in a new culture while pursuing her passion for dance.

What Claudia loves most about being a Raiderette is the honor of representing the best team in the NFL. "It's a privilege to be part of such a storied franchise," she shares, highlighting the pride that comes with donning the Raiderette uniform.

As we celebrate Claudia this week, we recognize not only her contributions to the team but also her embodiment of the Raiderette spirit—passionate, dedicated, and always ready for the next adventure. Congratulations, Claudia, on being this week's Raiderette of the Game!
