

Raiderette of the Game

PRESENTED BY EOSFITNESS

Sloane

This week, we are thrilled to highlight Sloane as the Raiderette of the Game! As a first-year member of the Raiderettes squad, she brings a fresh perspective and an infectious enthusiasm that perfectly embodies the spirit of the Raiders.

Originally from San Diego, California, Sloane recently graduated with her Bachelor of Science in Nursing (BSN). Her passion for healthcare drives her ambition to specialize in the Neonatal Intensive Care Unit (NICU), where she will care for premature and sick infants, helping them grow healthy and strong. Her dedication to making a difference in the lives of these vulnerable babies reflects her compassionate nature and commitment to service.

Sloane is excited to embark on her journey in Las Vegas, a city she sees as full of opportunities for personal and professional growth. Having only lived in California, she is eager to explore the vibrant environment, diverse food scenes, and welcoming community that Vegas has to offer. "This city allows me to experience so much," she shares. "I'm looking forward to growing as a person and discovering what this incredible place has in store for me."

When she's not busy caring for patients or cheering on the Raiders, Sloane enjoys unwinding with her favorite TV show, "Selling Sunset." The blend of real estate drama and stunning visuals provides a fun escape from her demanding schedule.

Sloane draws inspiration from her parents, who have instilled in her the importance of hard work and perseverance. "They've always been my biggest supporters, showing me what it means to strive for excellence," she says. This motivation aligns perfectly with her favorite quote, "Always do better than your best," a mantra passed down from her dad that she carries with her in both her nursing career and as a Raiderette.

Looking to the future, Sloane has her sights set on furthering her education to become a neonatal nurse practitioner. Her passion for caring for others drives her ambition, and she is determined to make a lasting impact in the field of healthcare.

This season, Sloane is especially excited about experiencing her first game day at Allegiant Stadium. "I can't wait to be part of the atmosphere, cheering for the best team alongside my amazing sisterhood of Raiderettes," she beams.

As we celebrate Sloane this week, we recognize her dedication to both her profession and her role as a Raiderette. She is a shining example of the resilience and spirit that define our team. Congratulations, Sloane, on being this week's Raiderette of the Game!
